

But it was the Roman Senate that believed it was JULIUS CAESAR that gave away the Roman's secret identity, and it is history that lets one believe he fell under the spell of Queen Cleopatra because of her Beauty.

But this is in direct conflict with what has been written about Queen Cleopatra. She was not pretty nor was she ugly. She did have in perfect proportions, a woman's body that was considered perfect. A body that women of royalty would give away their Kingdoms to have such a body.

But there was another side of JULIUS CAESAR that Institutions of Learning make no mention of. Not til one acquires the proper credentials and attends an INSTITUTION OF LETTERS does one really get to know JULIUS CAESAR.

The Documents these Scholars were permitted to review took me decades to find through research and I can safely assume one came to the same conclusions as these Scholars of Letters did. That JULIUS CAESAR was the greatest ANTHROPOLOGIST AND ANTIQUIST that ever lived and has not been surpassed to this day.

JULIUS CAESAR had come across the fact that this Head-Clan Mother of the Kleopatra Tribes known as QUEEN CLEOPATRIA, knew about the Ancient knowledges on how to control and use the forces of nature, which CAESAR wanted because it would make the Roman Empire impossible to defeat.

But he was murdered before he was able to get this knowledge, and documentation on his research shows he was at the place that has stopped all Scholars, past and present, on ancient tribal sciences. The conflicting calculations on the Speed of Light on the Planet Jupiter.

Meanwhile, the ROMAN SENATE had murdered JULIUS CAESAR and had him out of the way. All that was left, to murder QUEEN CLEOPATRIA who was the only outsider that knew about the Greek Royalty.

According to Historians, it was the Roman Empire that struck first at Queen Cleopatra's Kingdom. Not so according to Dynasty records (Plutarch, in Jul.Caes.cap.87; Dio Cass.xliv.; Virg.Georg.i.,466) when Cleopatra found out they had murdered CAESAR, who was her only connection to the Greek Royalty or Roman Senate because of the Treaty, she retaliated by an Ancient tribal ritual and Dynasty records dictate that the SUN and its light remained pale for a whole Year (traditional teachings give this as Two Time Cycles - 397.79014 days), the Air was Cold, thick, and hazy which caused the crops to fail in the entire Roman Empire. OCTAVIANUS AUGUSTUS HAD TO OPEN Royal Storehouses to feed the hungry; looking over CAESAR'S notes now knew it was Queen Cleopatra that caused this event and sent his Navy to capture and kill the Queen. But heavy storms in the Mediterranean sank his Navy; His troops by land
