

However, I can summarize your worldly concerns, your spiritual trip, your righteous call in one DAKOTA language expression. C H U N G ` K O Õ
If I were to take this to the White Gregorian Intellectual System, it would translate to mean---WOOD, W O O D !

To take this expression back to it's ethnic home, in all tribal languages it takes a little longer to translate, and while in this mental state, tribal languages are written in Picturegraphs or Hieroglyphic systems.

In these languages, a tribal member speaks several mental languages from several different Intellectual levels Instantaneously. It is for this reason, white scholars and scientist cannot match American Indian two written languages, to any spoken Indian language. One level gives the science to it's Creation while still another gives the legend which is for small children. Most people prefer the Legend which is ment to keep the American Indian in a primitive state, so here goes-----

As the legend states- "WHILE ON THE LONG JOURNEY OF THE GREAT MIGRATION (which is a white science of a global catastrophe that ends as an Ice Age), AS UNKNOWN WORLD ENERGYS BURN THE TREE FORESTS, THE SMOKE WILL RISE AND REACH THE NOSE OF THE CREATOR. THE DIFFERENT VARIETIES OF TREE SMOKES WILL TELL THE CREATOR, GREAT SPIRIT WHAT VARIETY OF ANIMAL LIFE WILL BE CREATED FOR THE NEW COMING WORLD."

Right now, SAVING THE WHALES or KILLING THE SEALS- is a program of select breeding by someone on this Earth. But the argument that can be used, is that, it is only an Indian legend, but no individual present can prove that these American Indian legends are not an exacting science. Let me expand this out.

It is well documented that the American Indian has been telling the world through legends for at least the past 200 years, what the outcome would be if people fobled around with nature or the environment. We have had several hundred confrontations and many Indian lives were lost.

At the very end there would be a heavy price that had to be paid and you would have no spiritual person that could pay this price.

Today! Right now! The synchronization of Now! Indian legends can be proven to be scientifically sound, correct, and exacting.

Let me tell of still another Indian legend that has been around for quite awhile that no one has given attention to it. Its been around longer than the environment one.

Let's begin by bringing up a modern-day subject that will found to be closely associated to this ancient Indian legend.

Now everyone has heard of the "no cholesterol" campaigns where the

However, I can summarize your worldly concerns, your spiritual trip, your righteous call in one DAKOTA language expression. C H U N O Ö

If I were to take this to the white Gregorian Intellectual System, it would translate to mean»----WOOD, W O O D I

To take this expression back _to its ethnic home, in all tribal languages it takes a little longer to translate, and while in this mental state, tribal languages are written in Picturegraphs or Hieroglyphic system; In these languages, a tribal member speaks several mental languages from several different intellectual levels Instantaneously. It is for this reason, white scholars and scientist cannot match American Indian two written languages, to any spoken Indian language. One level gives the science to its Creation while still another gives the legend which is for small children. Most people prefer the Legend which is meant to keep the American Indian in a primitive state, so here

AS the legend State- "WHILE ON THE LONG JOURNEY OF THE GREAT MIGRATION?

(which is a White science of a global catastrophe that ends as an Ice Age), AS UNKNOWN WORLD ENERGYS BURN THE TREE FORESTS, THE SMOKE WILL RISE AND REACH _THE NOSE OF THE CREATOR. THE DIFFERENT VARIETIES OF TREE SMOKES WILL TELL THE CREATOR, GREAT SPIRIT WHAT VARIETY OF ANIMAL LIFE WILL BE CREATED FOR THE NEW COMING WORLD." ^

Right- now, SAVING THE WHALES or KILLING THE SEALS- is a program of select breeding by someone on this Earth. But the argument that can be used, is that, it is only an Indian legend, but no individual present can prove that these American Indian legends are not an exacting science. Let me expand this out.

It is well documented that the American Indian has been telling the world through legends for at least the past 200 years, what the outcome would be if people fooled around with nature or the environment. We have had several hundred confrontations and many Indian lives were lost.

At the very end there would be a heavy price that had to be paid and you would have no spiritual person that could pay this price.

Today! Right now! The synchronization of Now! Indian legends can be proven to be scientifically sound, correct, and exacting.

Let me tell of still another Indian legend that has been around for quite _awhile that no one has given attention to it. Its been around longer environment one. A D

Let's begin by bringing up a modern-day subject that will found to be closely associated to this ancient Indian legend.

I Now everyone has heard of the "no Cholesterol" campaigns where the