

Taking into account all the Anthropology and Antiquity collection of old tribal rituals, to the Serpent and others, Scientist know that the Traditional Indian with Ancient knowledge on tribal equations, knows where to be- at what time to miss being part of an Ice Age Catastrophe.

So- the legends of the old Traditional Indian, according to when each Ice Age happens, stands correct because scientific evidence can back it up.

The written language of the Indian, and there are two; scientist have been studying them for over 500 years. They are so sophisticated that their literary trail cannot be broken. What has been translated shows that the beginning basics to Physics and Mathematical Laws are more accurate than the Civilized man's. The refined Ancient conclusions to these cannot be understood by the civilized man because they have not advanced that far in their sciences. Also, other passages have been translated that give a detailed description of the descendent to the CRO MAGNON or NEANDERTHAL MAN at that time, had done to the world; that made the Ancients decide to trigger another Migration to save the world(Ice Age) and two Ice Age descriptions back match in detail, than Traditional Indians know what next event in history must take place.

In my many travels, Indian descendant people who were trying to find their way back were stopped cold in their tracks by an individual I know everyone has met. They will always have long braids and be weighed/<sup>down</sup>with feathers and beads so heavy, it will/<sup>be</sup>hard walking. These individuals will stand and dictate the first law of the Anthropologist. "Can you speak your native language?" If an answer of no is given, then they reply:" Then you cannot be an Indian!" This was not <sup>an</sup> answer from a true traditionalist because it was a violation of tribal law. In my travels, I have met old Ancient traditional Indians who trusted me enough to further my Ancient knowledge by teachings under the most adverse conditions.

old tribal rituals, to the Serpent and others, Scientist know that the Traditional Indian with Ancient knowledge on tribal equations, knows where to be- at what time to miss being part of an Ice Age Catastrophe. So- the legends of the old Traditional Indian, according to when each Ice Age happens, stands correct because scientific evidence can back it up. The written language of the Indian, and there are two; scientist have been studying them for over 500 years. They are so sophisticated that their literary trail cannot be broken. What has been translated shows that the beginning basics to Physics and Matgematical Laws are more accurate then the Civilized man's. The refined Ancient conclusions to these cannot be understood by the civilized man because they have not advanced that far in their sciences. Also, other passages have been translated that give a detailed description of the descendant to the CRO MAGNON or NEAHEERTHAL MAN at tide, had done to the world; that made the Ancients decide to trigger another Migration to save the world(Ice Age) and two Ice Ags descriptions back match in detail, than Traditional Indians know what next event in history must take place.

In my many travels, Indian descendant people who were trying to find their way back were stopped cold in their tracks by an individual I know - dmm

everyone haenet. They will always have long braids and be weighed/with be feathers and beads so heavy, it will/hard walking. These individuals will staná and dictate the first law of the Anthroplogist. "Can you speak your native language?" If an answer of no is given, then they reply: " Then you cannot be an Indiani" This was notiaiaswer from a true traditionalist because it was a violation of tribal law. In ny travels, I have net old_ Ancient traditional Indians who trusted ne enough to further ny Ancient knowledge by teachings under the most adverse conditions.