But to have known when ARAFAT would safely get out of Buirut and Trinidid;
 To have known the four dates and events that England would win the Falkland Islands war;
 To have missed the Mexico City Earthquake by 8 minutes;
 To have missed the Space Ship mishap by 3 minutes-just to name afew;

Which were all done using tribal and clan equations that required long mathematical problems.

Even when one knew weeks before the event and time, and then when the event took place, one still felt it was an educated guess and not the exact science it is.

Legends and traditional teachings state that Prayer Disc Calculations are to be done as a matter-of-fact everyday doings with no uplifting or religious Hocus-pocus high.

So, to feel it is being done by educated guesses is way below in standards of any religious Hocus-pocus High. To feel it is an exact science is a long way away.

I'm not interested in any debates such as if there are ships or what. only to be able to know traditional teachings on Clan Equations to escape the harm that could be on a journey through THE GREAT MIGRATION.
