

June 11th. 10:28p.m. Motel near Carrolton, New York. 15 days left before everyone has to report to the underground city.

Everybody is exhausted mentally. To learn an ancient method to math which conflicts with the so-called modern one, one is constant reworking the problem, because the ancient method is too simple to accept when one deals in permutations. Being stupid by standards of ancient people who don't know the meaning of the words-trigonometry and algebra- is a hurt deep inside. But to now see that destiny, is no more than a set figure or number in sequence and synchronized to time, moved back or forward to your personal existence, is simple yet staggers anyone's mind. Here you are, going to an Ancient school to become a TIME WALKER. You are learning what it takes to become a Child of Dawn in the House made of Dawn. All that has been written about this subject, is so far from what it really is, you now consider your teachers-professors you had great respect for- are simply stupid. That also hurts. Wynona and Clair, who room together, obvious because Wynona hoping she had the best hold on the Time Walker, Clair has permitted to be an absolute instrument of the Time Walker without care or worry- which can cause worry. As far as Penny goes, even in school she was always happy and satisfied just to get the left-overs. But Wynona knows she must re-evaluate this because nothing so far, has shown a pattern.

Clair: "My mind is blown, I got to do something to make me relax. It's almost time for the 11:0'clock news. Lets see what is happening in the world.

Wynona: "Clair! I'm tired, have a heart!"

Clair: "WYNONA! LOOK! Somekind of Indian confrontation. LOOK! THERE'S TIME WALKER!"

Wynona sits up and see's him on television. Some kind of disagreement where ancient Indian lands have been disturbed. The battle was fierce and the Indians have bottle-necked two Airborn troops and the Rangers
