

3:26p.m. Club 21. New York City.

Everybody is seated, ordering another drink and trying to figure out who the old friends that will be here, could be? Nobody can even come up with one name. Suddenly the place is really filling up and somehow their faces look like somebody they should know but can't place.

It is Wynona who jumps up spilling everyone's drinks. She stands there stunned. She looks at Buddy and Penny and Clair and points at a young man who just came in.

Wynona: "Stan! Stan! Over here!!!"

Stan: "Everyone please! Please look over there! there^{is} who we were to see!"

The crowd that had been coming now looks at Wynona. Stan runs over to Wynona and the crowd gathers around.

Stan: "Wynona! All that news on T.V. is nothing. Let me tell it in as short as time as can be done. This Indian agreement was a cover-up agreed upon with Indians and the United States. Several days back the noise from some explosions was really bad. Bad enough to where several here are under Doctors care for their hearing. The city brought up their army because by the sounds of these explosions, it was only a matter of time. Then it happened! One of those huge doors fell in and the noise and the shock waves were really something. Some of the houses moved from their foundations. All of us drove down to the Auditorium, just to stay together. We watched from the front Lawn. Three Helicopters came down the opening and all hell broke loose. These copters kept sweeping back and forth, shooting as they would pass over the city's army. These copters drove the city's army down by the corner of Brown and Black streets. Which we later learned was the elevators to the lower levels. One Copter stayed while the other two copters came towards us. We all truly thought it was the end. One copter landed on the roof of the Auditorium

Everybody is seated, another and trying to figure out old friends that will be here, could be? Nobody can even come up with a name. Suddenly the place is really filling up and somehow their faces look like somebody they should know but can't place it is Wynona who jumps up spilling everyone's drinks. She stands there stunned.. She looks at Buddy and Penny and Clair and points at a man see!"

The crowd that had been coming now looks at Wynona. Stan runs over to Wynona and the crowd gapes around.

Stan: "Wynona"? All that news on TSN is nothing. Let me tell it in as short a time as can be done. This Indian agreement was a cover-up agreed upon with Indians and the United States. Several days back the noise from some place where several here are under doctors care for their hearing. The city brought up their army because by the sounds of these explosions, it was only a matter of time.. Then it happened! One of those huge doors fell in and the noise and the shock waves were some of the houses moved from their foundations. All of us drove down to the Auditorium, just to stay together'. We fled from the front lawn. Three Helicopters came down the opening and all hell broke loose. These kept sweeping back and forth, shooting as ha