

As an American Indian raised on a reservation, each of us has one story or legend that keeps us in the direction where personal life problems are to be overcome.

I am the youngest in my family but carry the rights and responsibilities of a first-born because of tribal traditions. Whenever the first-born refuses the duties of the first-born, ~~xx~~<sup>it</sup> passes right to the last-born.

So as a small child I had to take the teachings of my tribal clan and sciences of our family lineage. The first-born formulas is 600, 666 the time equation. Your records show they were called THE GREAT NEROS

Today, you have been taught these mathematical formulas are witchcraft or devil's worship but all they are mathematical formulas and equations that I must live by.

These duties made me rebellious as a young child because all I ever wanted to be, was the reservation drunk and get a few girls pregnant
