Now Portugal had been given the right to start a trade route with the Indians of the America's because of the treaties. The right to Commerce with the Indians. Columbus applied for this position by showing he could make this trip across the ATLANTIS Seas because it was believed that connect^{ed} had been made with the legendry ATLANTIS which was rich with Gold, Silver.

Recorded history contradicts itself. Some scholars state that Columbus spent the money the Portugal government gave him while others state that Columbus was invited to visit Spain by Queen Isabella I between 1490 to 1491.

There was a small problem. Queen Isabella did not have the Authority to send Columbus to the America's because the Kingdom of Spain was shared with Moorish King es-Zaghal.

Finally in the year 1491, King Abdallah es-Zaghal agreed to sell his Kingdom to Queen Isabella for 5 million maravedi ($17,000,000) He crossed over into Morocco and was arrested by King Benimerin of Fez. who took his money and put out his eyes. Now King Benimerin was with the Otterman Empire. Zaghal was made into a begger but had to be kept alive in case any Indian remember the treaties and then the world would have to produce Zaghal.
